WEBSTER YOUNG MAN IS SHOT IN ABDOMEN

While Cleaning Rifle at Shooting Gallery the Piece is Discharged, the Ball Entering a Most Vital Part

VICTIM RUSHED TO HOSPITAL

Max Lynch of Webster, aged 19 years and a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Lynch was accidentally shot in the abdomen last evening and may die as a result.

Mr. Lynch operates a shooting gallery in Webster and last night while cleaning one of the rifles, it was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the abdomen.

Doctors D. A. Rupert and W. C. Byers were immediately summoned and did what they could in such a case, and the young man was hurried to the McKeesport hospital where an examination proved the case to be most critical.

This case is made all the more sad from the fact that only three months ago Mr. and Mrs. Lynch lost a younger son from blood poisoning and the mother being prostrated at that time had not fully recovered when her other son was shot. The family is being deeply sympathized with on account of their double share of trouble.

Kills Friend in Drunken Rage

Maddened by drink and enraged because he had lost his job, Oscar Krumenacher, 35 years old, shot and instantly killed Mi hael Bradley, 34 years old, and the father of nine children, at the entrance of the Moshannon mine, near Lilly, a mining town near Johnstown. The murder was most brutal and cold-blooded, as the victim was an inoffensive and popular citizen of the little mining village. Krumenacher, who had been on a spree for several weeks, had lost his position as pumper at the Moshannon mine and vowed he would get even with Bradley, who had been given the position.

A number of diphtheria cases are being reported to the Health Officer, three having been reported within the last few days and several during the latter part of the previous week.

Our Position

It has come to our notice that some person or persons have taken offense at a headline in the Independent which reads, "Lutherans Defeated by Those Catholics." Let it be plainly understood that no offense was meant. The head was originally written, "Lutherans Defeated by the Catholics" but the word "The" was too short to make a graceful second line and the compositor took the license to extend the word two letters—no offense and no thought of a thrust at any team. This paper is interdenominational. Its columns are for free expressions. Editorially speaking we have no preference in the church league. One team looks as good to us as another. It makes no difference to us who wins or who loses, and we don't propose to make it a daily business explaining the writeup of the previous game.

Personally we are not in sympathy with a church baseball league. Baseball and religion are out of harmony, as has been exemplified on the local ground already this season. From henceforth let us be understood. The space given in these columns for baseball writeups is freely given because there is a demand for it, but we don't propose to undertake to settle disputes between religious denominations. There should be no strife or contention, for God's mission is to spread peace abroad among all classes and denominations. If one person calls another a vile name he should be knocked down wherever he is. We will esteem it a personal favor if people will forbear from asking us to take sides in disputes and they will also confer a favor if they will forget to find trouble in these columns for none is written there. It is in the mind of the individual who is looking for it.

The Editor.

MAN IS PROBABLY FATALLY INJURED

Adam Metro, age 49 and married, of Hazelkirk, met with a serious accident yesterday that may prove fatal.

Metro is employed by the Crescent Blasting Co., and while at work at the quarries he placed a stick of dynamite in a hole, preparatory to making a shot, and stooping down peered into the hole to see if it was properly charged when a premature explosion occurred, caused possibly, by the intense hotness of the rock from the sun's rays.

The man's nose was blown off, his skull crushed and both eyes so badly injured that sight may be destroyed, even should he recover. He was taken to the Memorial hospital where his case is thought to be very critical.

There will be a game in the Church League this evening between the Lutherans and the Presbyterians. Both teams are in fine fettle and a good game should be the result.

TIMELY SUGGESTIONS TO THE CARELESS ONE

From the amount of banana and orange peelings, and waste paper that finds its way to the street, it is very evident that there are a large number of people who care little for the cleanliness of our city. While there are ordinances and laws against the throwing of refuse matter onto the streets and highways, they still continue to be the favorite depository of a large number of people, with the result that no matter how hard the street comissioner and his force may work to keep the streets clean, they can never accomplish the job. While we are criticising the city administration as to the cleanliness of our streets, let us take a little heed to ourselves, to the end that our actions will not contribute in any way to making them unsightly. If people were only considerate, and would use the streets for the purpose intended, there would be less inclination to grumble and criticise. We can all materially aid in keeping our streets clean.

EARLY MORNING BLAZE CALLS OUT DEPARTMENT AND CREATES EXCITEMENT

An alarm was turned in this morning about 8:30 o'clock when a small blaze was discovered in "Castle Garden" opposite the Pittsburgh Steel company's plant on Fourteenth street. The blaze for a time threatened to destroy the entire building which contains 40 apartments and which is inhabited by over a hundred people. An overturned stove ignited some waste papers in one of the apartments and pandemonium broke loose for several minutes among the occupants until a bucket brigade was formed and the fire extinguished.

The fire department was quick to get there making the trip in record breaking time. When they arrived the fire had been put out. Shortly after the arrival of the company a second alarm was turned in and extra aid summoned as it was not known how severe the fire was and it was deemed best not to take any chances.

The seat of the fire and the vicinity is one of the most thickly populated portions of the town and thousands of dollars worth of property, furnishings and the savings of many families were at stake. Many of the frantic occupants were moving their belongings out onto the street when the firemen arrived and guarded them jealously until assured that there was no more danger.

"Castle Garden" as the place is more familiarly known is one of the historic places of the town dating back almost to the time when the town was founded. It is located on the corner of Fourteenth street and Schoonmaker avenue and is a frame structure and would have been easy prey for the flames had the fire gained any headway at all.

Work is moving along nicely on the new St. Jeromes Catholic church at Charleroi the brick work being done about twelve feet above the substructure. The large main pillars are now being set.

CHILD RECEIVES FATAL BURNS AT PLAY

CHAIRMAN OF COMPLAINT COMMITTE IS AT WORK

Phil Joseph, chairman of the complaints committee of the Board of Trade, has made a roundup of the town and has filed many complaints with the council and suggested immediate action. One issue upon which Mr. Joseph placed much stress was the condition of the sidewalks and streets. In many places over town and more particularly in the business section the walks are sunken and in one place so much as to make them dangerous to the traveling public. The report of Mr. Joseph is likely to bring a recommendation from the street department condemning sidewalks in front of many places of business, especially on Schoonmaker avenue. The sunken places in the streets was also touched upon and specific places were cited where the streets are in an almost impassable condition. This was looked at from a sanitary standpoint as well for very often stagnant water stands in the sunken places and brings forth a foul odor in front of places of business. Mr. Joseph's report was referred to the Streets and Roads committee of council with instructions that a recommendation be ready at the next meeting of council. The monthly meeting will be held Thursday night of this week.

Actions Arouse Suspicion

The mysterious actions of an unknown party last evening on McKee avenue near Fourth street caused a great deal of excitement among the residents in that district for some time until the stranger noticed he was the center of attraction and disappeared. He is said to have been loitering around several homes about 9 o'clock and is described as being of medium height and of good appearance. Nothing had been reported to police headquarters concerning the case.

Five Year Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Moskovitz of Donora is Fatally Burned While at Play With Matches

PARENTS ARE DISTRACTED

A sad accident occurred last evening at Donora about 7:30 o'clock when little Arthur, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs Adoph Moskovitz was so badly burned that there is no hope for his recovery.

The lad along with some other children were playing on McKean avenue, between First and Second streets and it is supposed that some of the youngsters having matches, a small fire was started, the clothing of the Moskovitz child being ignited. The other children becoming frightened ran away leaving the little fellow to his fate.

John Minney happening to pass along the street at that time, saw the blaze and rushing to the child's aid, stripped his coat from his back and throwing it about the little victim's form extinguished the flames. By this time a crowd had been attracted by the lad's screams, and he was carried by Mr. Minney to the parents' home. Doctors Lewis and Sprowls were called and everything possible was done to relieve the child's sufferings, but the little body was horribly burned from head to foot, and he having inhaled the flame, there is no hope held out. Moskovitz is a prominent butcher of Donora and is well-known in Monessen.

As to His Wife's Health

"Professer" Samuels is the quack who has made millions by selling a weak watery solution of sugar and salt at $5 an ounce. Until recently, Samuels made his headquarters at Wichita, Kan. The Journal of the American Medical Association exposed his nefarious trade and asked editorially, "What's the Matter with Kansas?" that it should tolerate fraud like Samuels. Kansas answered the question by making the state too hot for the quack. As a result, Samuels advertised that he was going to move to Detroit, Mich., so as to be located "near the center of the United States," thus indicating that he believed the public's ignorance of geography to be equal to its gullibility. He had barely got settled in his Detroit offices when The Journal called attention to the fact and asked "What's the Matter with Michigan?" An answer was forthcoming in no uncertain tones, when the public prosecutor raided Samuels' offices a week ago, arrested the "professor," seized his card-index of victims and carried off a barrel of sugar and a bin of salt. When arrested, the fakir declared that he left Kansas because the climate of that state did not agree with his wife's health. It would probably be nearer the truth to say that he left Kansas for his own health. Every man who has the interest of the public at heart will congratulate the Detroit authorities if they succeed in making that city as unhealthful a place for Samuels as was Wichita. There are many such fakes, but it's unfortunate for humanity that they and their gullible schemes are not detected as was Prof. Samuels.

It might be best for Monessen as well as any other town to put a lock and chain on the stable door before the horse is stolen. There's plenty of doors locked after a valued animal has dissappeared, but it is very seldom that owners are thoughtful enough to take the neccessary precaution. Hence the timely reference to a check being placed on fast autoing before it's too late—that is, before some one is hurt or killed. Let it go on and on until there is a fatality, then what a hue and cry will go up. The fact that Monessen has escaped so far may be attributed to a dispensation of providence or something of the sort, but it's far better to not wait on this providential dispensation and take chances. A reckless driver in an Eastern city killed two men and drove on attempting to escape detection. Now he is serving a seven years sentence, and why shouldn't he?

The popular idea is that when men—or women either—disagree, the best way to settle the disputed question is by arbitration. Why not, then, have Teddy and Taft arbitrate to determine whether or not what one says about the other is true?

The lumber trust has advanced the price of lumber fifty cents per thousand feet, says an exchange. This might be caused in anticipation of the great demand for materal or the construction of political platforms in the near future.

The death of Wilbur Wright, the aviator, will cause a feeling of profound grief among those who are interested in the subject of aerial flight from a scientific standpoint.

As the time for the assembling of the national convention approaches the complexities of the situation increases.

Apparently So.

Those Were Happy Days.

A well-known Bostonian recently found in his trunk an old diary with the entry: "August 10, 1887. Went to the railroad station to see my sister off, and by some chance Harry Blank was there to see his sister off, and in the rush and noise and confusion we got mixed and I hugged his sister and he hugged mine."—Boston Transcript.

We're it for Job Work

The Spangled Tunic

Mrs. Winslow and Lily Belle were just stepping into the automobile when the postman came along.

"That's from Maude!" cried Lily Belle, pouncing upon a blue envelope postmarked "Springview," and running a stickpin under the flap. "Now I'll know what we are all going to wear at the wedding."

She read in silence for a moment. Then she sat up suddenly and fixed her companion with two glittering eyes.

"Cousin Mattie Winslow," she gasped. "Will you listen to what Maude Washburne has the assurance to write me? Of course she begins with a lot of truck about her own dress, and then—listen: 'The attendants are to wear pink marquisette over pink satin. All the other girls, being married, will wear trains, but you, being the only unmarried girl, of course will wear a short dress—ankle length.' And so on, and so on. Now, what do you think of that?"

She paused to let the horror of the situation sink into the mind of her companion.

"Well, if they think for a single second that I'm going to do anything of the kind they are much mistaken," went on Lily Belle. "I won't go home for the old wedding, that's all. I'll write to mamma this very day not to let them order the stuff for my dress Ankle length! Everybody else with a train and little Lily Belle trotting up the aisle in a short dress—humps!"

"Never mind; you just stay here with me until the wedding's over," said Cousin Mattie, soothingly. "How does it happen that they're all married but you?"

"Oh, it's a club we have There are just seven of us and each one that has married has had the rest for attendants. The man I was going to walk up the aisle with is simply delightful—from Denver. It just makes me perfectly furious, Cousin Mattie"

"Well," purred Cousin Mattie, equably, "just trot around in the stores today and look at the pretty things and forget all about it for a while."

They had their luncheon and were making a tour of the shops when they saw the spangled tunic Before a critical customer the saleswoman held it up—a lovely, shimmering thing, like a robe of cobwebs spangled with dewdrops

"Only thirty-two fifty, marked down from forty," said the saleswoman.

The customer turned away indifferently. "It isn't just what I wanted," she drawled. "I think I'll look somewhere else"

Lily Belle darted at the clerk as the other woman turned away. "Let me look at that, please," she cried, dragging Cousin Mattie toward the tunic. "Isn't that the sweetest thing you ever laid your eyes on?"

"Very pretty," agreed Cousin Mattie, surveying the tunic placidly.

As Lily Belle gazed a half-formed thought in her brain crystallized into a sudden resolution.

"Cousin Mattie Winslow," she announced, impressively, "I'm going to buy that tunic if it takes the last cent I have, and I'm going to wear it at the wedding. They'll all be angry, but it serves them right. If I can't have a train at the bottom of my dress I'll have a tunic over the top, to make up."

If Cousin Mattie had any misgivings about the propriety of the arrangement, she was too well acquainted with her young relative to voice them, so the tunic was ordered and paid for.

Mrs. Winslow settled herself comfortably in an easy chair to read a letter. It was two days after the wedding, and the letter was postmarked "Springview" and addressed in Lily Belle's upright handwriting.

"Dear Cousin Mattie," she read. "I have only time to write you a line about the wedding because I'm going out in the car with Mr. Swift—the Denver man I told you about—but I want to thank you for helping me choose that tunic. It just made my dress and everybody said it was the prettiest gown that was ever seen in Springview. Nobody looked at Maude's dress to speak of or any of the others. The girls were perfectly furious, but it served them right, for they never would have dared to decide the way they did about the trains if I had been here.

"Mamma began to make a little fuss about my wearing the tunic—thought it might not be in good taste—but when I told her that you thought it was all right she was satisfied. She has so much confidence in your judgment. Thank you again, dear Cousin Mattie, for suggesting it."

Cousin Mattie opened her eyes a little at the last sentence, then she smiled placidly.

"Oh, well, I'm willing to take the responsibility," she thought. "It did serve them right."

The Modern Way.

LAXITY IN COUNTY ROAD WORK BEING CHARGED

What's wrong with this county in the matter of constructing highways? That's the question being asked by many people all over the county. It is only a short time since there were rumors of many promises afloat regarding good roads but it seems nothing is being done. The contracts that were let by the former board of commissioners are not being pushed with any dispatch and people are getting on the anxious seat. The Greensburg Tribune has been keeping pretty close to the inside of matters and it is inspired to direct the following article to the board of county commissioners. It says:

"The commissioners of Westmoreland county and the State highway commissioner are slow, distressingly slow, about getting together on public road improvements

Surely this is not as it should be. The first official act of E. M. Bigelow after he had been commissioned as head of the highway department was to come to Westmoreland county to begin his work. The first rod of road improvement under Commissioner Bigelow's administration was constructed in Westmoreland. Other counties were clamoring for his attention Other sections needed and urged his official consideration, but Westmoreland got his first efforts.

Commissioner Bigelow would seem to have what the people of the county most want in the way of road improvements, but Westmoreland authorities probably have not gone an equal distance in giving to the road commissioner what he demands for the State.

Somewhere, somehow, there is a mysterious conflict between the county commissioners and the highway commissioner, and as a result of that mysterious conflict the people of Westmoreland are not getting the roads to which they are entitled and which the commissioners of highways seems anxious they shall have.

We are now pushing into June. More than a month has elapsed since road improvements were started in other counties, yet there is a tie-up in Westmoreland that is by no means promising.

The commissioners of Westmoreland county are building several pieces of improved road. Those improvements are being made at the cost of the county exclusively. Under an arrangement with the State authorities the county need spend but 25 cents to get a full dollar's worth of improved roads and that is well worth while in the extensive road improvements which should be made in the county.

What's the game, gentlemen, what's the game?"

CHARLEROI DOCTOR'S WAS A SUICIDAL DEATH

"We, the jury, find that A. S. Bender came to his death on May 31, 1912 from morphine poisoning. We find from the evidence that the poison was taken by his own hand with suicidal intent."

The above was the verdict of the coroner's jury which met Saturday night. The inquest was conducted at the office of Deputy Coroner Lawrence B. Frye, Charleroi, by Coroner James T. Heffran. Four witnesses were heard.

The testimony was to the effect that Bender had been drinking heavily, and was partly intoxicated on the morning of the tragedy. He had been at the Monier hotel, it was stated, and was anxious to know whether Mrs. Lloyd would let him in when he returned to his office.

Arriving at his boarding house he was refused admittance by Mrs. Lloyd but managed to get in his office from the rear. Securing the poison he dissolved it in a glass of water and drained the glass. Mrs. Lloyd stated he had at different occasions performed similar acts, after which he would fall heavily to the floor. At about the time she would start in alarm for the telephone to call a physician he would laugh and arise—taking it as a good joke. She said she thought he was trying to display the same kind of grim humor on Friday morning when he took the posion. The body was shipped to his old home at Butztown.

Donora's Curb Market

Just as an example of what an idea will do is being brought to realization today in Donora with the establishment of a curb market in that town. Some few months ago Jake Meyers brought the issue before the Monessen board of trade and the matter was discussed to some extent but nothing definite done. The next day this paper in giving a report of the meeting spoke of the matter and it was copied in the Charleroi Mail with an added suggestion or two. Donora took to the idea at once and today the curb market is being tried out in that town.

Washington is another town that thinks it might be a good thing and so the idea has taken hold upon many communities it originated in Monessen.

Monessen Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence

This Monessen citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of lasting benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. Burns Wadsworth 270 Donner avenue, Monessen Pa., says: "I was in poor health for some time and suffered almost constantly from backache. I was subject to chills and dizzy spells. Knowing that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for kidney complaint, I procured a supply from the Hirsch Drug Co. Their use helped me from the first and before long I was cured. I am now enjoying good health and my kidneys do not bother me in the least." (From statement given Oct. 2, 1907.)

A PERMANENT CURE.

Mrs. Wadsworth was interviewed on Nov. 9, 1909 and she said: "The cure effected by Doan's Kidney Pills in my case has been permanent. I have recommended this remedy to my friends on several occasions and all who have used it, speak highly of the results received.

DRAWS OUT POISON

Marvelous Antiseptic that Draws Glass, Wood and Needles from The Flesh.

There never was known such a powerful drawing ointment as San Cura. Wherever it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centerville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

Nothing so healing or antiseptic can be purchased today. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Craig's Drug Store to quickly cure any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies such as bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it kills the pain instantly. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 25c and 50c a jar at Craig's Drug Store.

"A WIFE'S PERIL" AT STAR THEATRE

The McShaffery Summer Stock Co. last night produced at the Star theatre "A Wife's Peril," an interesting four act English comedy drama, to a well-filled house which showed by fair applause that there are some people here that do appreciate other than the light comedy, vaudeville and motion pictures. The cast follows:

Beatrice Fane....Miss Annie Pomeroy
Lady Farrington. Miss Helen Gerould
Joseph Harris.....Mr. Hugh Wright
Trixy Fane.. ...Miss Naoma Keller
Mrs. Merryweather..... .....
... .Miss Norma Lynwood
Hon. Augustus Cholmondeley.....
.....Mr. Claud Boardman
Rafael Di Rivola.....
.. ..Mr. J. G. MacFarlane
George Fane..Mr. Billie Cunningham
Mrs. Winneford..Miss Doretta Morris
Hawkins.....Mr Hugh Wright
Luigi Lue.....Mr. Charles A. Lynch.

There is scarcely a play of the present day that will please every one, but generally speaking, "A Wife's Peril" is a fair week-opener, for which usually some allowances should be made, as the actors, especially at the Star, work awfully hard the latter part of the week, giving a matinee Saturday afternoon and two night performances thus tiring them out, this hot weather, and giving but little time to rehearse the first-of-the week bill. The absence from the play last night of Director McNulty was decidedly noticeable, as he as an actor, in any nature is strong and has made himself a favorite.

Tonight and Wednesday night "A Wife's Peril" will be re-produced, strengthened in many places, and the drollery of the Englishman, Mr. Claude Boardman, as the Hon. Augustus Cholmondeley will give an opportunity for many hearty laughs. Miss Annie Pomery in the emotional part as the innocently erring wife does her workwell as usual.

BIRTH AND DEATH RATE INCREASED

Mothers who are prone to cling to the old fashioned idea that diseases common to childhood are matters of fact, that "all children must have 'em," that "you can't stop 'em," and that they're not dangerous," will do well to glance at the report of the deaths in the state during March, as tabulated Saturday by the bureau of vital statistics of the state department of health.

Measles caused ninety-five deaths that month and whooping cough seventy five, not a large proportion to the number of children affected with these diseases, it is true; but the number is sufficiently large to give any parent pause. Scarlet fever, commonly regarded as much more dangerous than the two mentioned, killed fifty-five; diphtheria, the dread of all, claimed 15 victims. Most of the deaths in these four classes were children.

The proportion of deaths to births in March was higher than usual, as 10,472 persons died in Pennsylvania and 17,917 were born. Frequently the births of a month are 100 per cent higher than the deaths

EDUCATIONAL FEATURES WITH BUFFALO BILL

There are two reasons why the United States of America is best fitted to lead the movement towards universal peace.

The first is, that the American is the only citizen in the world, who has not lost his ideals; and the second reason is, the American is so far removed from the spites and bickerings of the old world, that perhaps he does not realize their intensity.

History of all ages has shown that important political questions, by which nations are divided and moved, can for the greater part, be decided only by the sword and it is the sword alone, that now keeps the sword in the scabbard.

It is a strange paradox that inspires mankind with a desire for peace, and at the same time inspires him with fervent admiration of all things warlike.

The Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill arena, is the only place on the face of the whole earth, where representatives of the armed forces of the world can be seen in International array, giving a distinctive knowledge of the fighting men, or protectors, of the different nations.

American cavalry men, Royal English horse artillery, German Uhlans, French Cuirassers, Italian Bersaglieri, Russian Cossacks, Austrian Chasseurs, Spanish Grenadiers, Royal lancers, and their military impedimentia.

The Far East of the Lerant and the near East of the Adriatic, contributes; Servians, Syrians, Cretans, Crotians, Roumanians, Egyptians, Rosnicks, Tartars, Kurds, Armenians and Persians. A kalidescopic picture of perfectly drilled soldiery in bewildering facial variety, in mimic warfare and distinctive and collective evolutions, in cohesive harmony.

A conception that is without parallel in the history of amusement presentation, bewildering the eye with its chess like war drills and their tremendous climaxes, and the wrath like phantasies of fearsome warfare which grips one like a vise.

GRADUATES UP IN AIR REFUSE THE DIPLOMAS

Graduates of the Scottdale high school refused to accept their diplomas on commencement night and for a time it was feared that the exercises would end in confusion, when the colors of three other classes of that high school were lowered over the stage during the exercises. Had it not been for Robert Skemp, ex school director, the graduating exercises would not have been completed.

Just as Prof. Landis Tanger was preparing to present the diplomas, there was a flutter of colors in the rear of the stage and the president of the graduating class demanded that the colors be removed before the graduates would agree to accept their diplomas. After some argument the colors were lifted and the exercises continued.

In the meantime a dove bearing the 1912 colors was released and there was a wild scramble in the audience, one woman struck it with her hat while another grabbed it and concealed it amoug her clothing.

Professor Tanger, continued to present the diplomas. He was in the act of passing one to a girl of the class when the colors 1911, 1913 and 1915 classes were dropped on the stage. The girl positively refused to accept the diploma and the others followed suit. Just when the commencement was about to end in a turmoil, Mr. Skemp appeared and after a talk to the students persuaded them to accept the diplomas which they reluctantly did.

There were 41 pupils in the class, which was the largest ever graduated from the Scottdale high school.

Mr Mulick was one of the most prominent breeders of Holstein-Friesan cattle in Wisconsin. He purchased one of our small farms and is stocking it with one of the finest herds of pure Holstein-Friesan cattle in the United States. He says

"The Sacramento Valley is an ideal home for the Holstein cow and I am sure that the dairy world will soon look to this valley for the world's record stock.

"There is certainly a bright future for the practical dairyman in this valley. It is hardly possible to estimate the advantages of dairying in a country where green feed can be raised the year round, as compared with Wisconsin, where they have to stable their stock at least six months in the year."
